The Islander

DAILY COLONIST MAGAZINE

VICTORIA, B.C., SUNDAY, APRIL 19, 1959

There are a few of the giants left. This cedar on the shore of Comox Lake in MacMillan, Bloedel logging country, is 15 feet in diameter. Once they were not unusual, like the majestic firs that are preserved in MacMillan Park on the highway to Alberni. But loggers have had their way with most of them.—Islander photo by W. H. Gold, Youbou, B.C.